Growth spurt for Spirit with two new appointments

Building on its continuing success in the mobility enterprise arena, Spirit Data Capture Limited is enjoying a period of expansion, with the appointment of two new senior executive posts. Paul Geary is the company's new Director of Operations and Jonathan Harvey is the new Director of Software.

Paul Geary has held the role of IT Director in numerous organisations. He has experience of a wide range of business sectors and public services both in the UK and overseas. Paul has been extensively involved in business software development, deployment and support throughout his career and he specialises in ITIL and process improvement. He will be responsible for developing Spirit's Managed Services and identifying and implementing improvements across the business, so that the company can always deliver a 'best in class' customer experience.

Jonathan Harvey brings extensive experience from a range of software management and IT roles, working with both traditional and Agile software and with project teams of all sizes. He joins Spirit from JD Williams, where he was IT Project Manager and Production Support Manager. In his new role, his key responsibilities will include implementing and leading a range of both small and large software/mobile application development projects from concept through to completion.

Ebbie Khadem, Spirit's Managing Director, comments: "We are delighted to welcome Jonathan and Paul. These new appointments reflect the importance of our role as a Managed Services company - planning, sourcing and implementing mobile computing and data capture solutions that include hardware, software and support. Paul and Jonathan will enable us to give an even more comprehensive service that meets the varying needs of our clients from industry, commerce and government."
