SPIRIT'S PARTNERSHIP WITH TOSHIBA EXTENDS ITS GRIP ON THE HEALTHCARE SECTOR

Spirit Data Capture Limited, the independent mobile computing and data capture consultancy, has become a Value Added Reseller for TOSHIBA TEC Europe. This will enable it to offer TOSHIBA TEC's versatile printing solutions to its customers.

TOSHIBA TEC Europe is a leading provider of innovative barcode and RFID products. Spirit will be selling its desktop and portable range of printing solutions. These have already proved highly popular with a wide range of customers – including many organisations working in the healthcare sector.

The EV series of desktop printers are rugged but compact units that produce high quality barcode labels on demand. The labels can be designed and printed straight from a PC. The series also support PID media from a range of suppliers and the four inch print width is ideal for both wristbands and labels.

The EP series of portable printers can be used to produce prescriptions, tickets and labels whenever and wherever they are needed. There are two inch and four inch options, with 'peel and present' labelling capabilities being provided as standard.

Ebbie Khadem, Spirit's Managing Director, comments: "We are very pleased to be able to offer TOSHIBA TEC Europe's high quality printers to our clients. Their excellent solutions will enable us to strengthen our capabilities within a variety of sectors – particularly healthcare, which is already a very important market for us."

"Spirit Data Capture's expertise in the mobility sector will enable us to strengthen our business within the healthcare marketplace," commented Dave Solomons, Senior Account Manager for TOSHIBA TEC. "We are looking forward to developing our partnership and providing customers with innovative, tried and tested solutions."
