SPIRIT WINS RECOGNITION FOR ITS QUALITY OF SERVICE

Spirit Data Capture Limited, the independent data collection consultancy, has underlined its commitment to quality by achieving Quality Management System BS EN ISO 9001: 2000 accreditation.

ISO 9001 is an internationally recognised standard relating to the quality management of businesses. It focuses particularly upon the processes that create and control the products and services supplied by an organisation. ISO 9001:200 is the latest revision to the standard.

To achieve accreditation, Spirit had to show that it had established appropriate quality objectives and to produce a documented quality policy. It had to prioritise its quality objectives to ensure that they were successfully met; and to develop internal audits to ensure that its quality management system is maintained.

Under the terms of the latest version of the standard, Spirit also had to show that its senior executives are closely involved with quality management, and that its whole approach is customer-focused – part of which is achieved by a strategy of continual improvement and planning for the future.

Ebbie Khadem, Spirit's Managing Director, comments: "We are delighted to have achieved ISO 9001: 2000 accreditation. As a company, we are committed to the highest levels of customer service, and we have been working hard to ensure that we meet all of the requirements of this demanding standard. It provides our customers with further evidence that we believe in striving for excellence in everything we do."
