

Ten ways to transform your food manufacturing and distribution operations with a mobile enterprise solution

The benefits of a complete mobile enterprise solution from Spirit include:

1. Optimised operations

Our solutions will automate and streamline a wide variety of food manufacturing and distribution processes.

2. Higher satisfaction

This in turn will lead to both faster processes and improved response times – enhancing your customer satisfaction levels.

3. Greater productivity

The automation of your data capture operations will also lead to increased efficiency and higher productivity.

4. Superb traceability

Our solutions can give you full traceability for all of your products – an increasingly important aspect for food manufacturers.

5. Faster invoicing

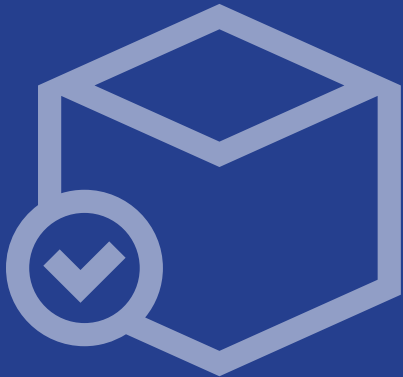

Our sophisticated solutions provide you with real-time updates on deliveries, leading to quicker invoicing.

6. Better Rol

By using SOTI's MobiControl, you can significantly enhance the effectiveness of your mobile devices and the return on your investment.

7. Smoother stock management

Our solutions will streamline your stock, asset and warehouse management capabilities.

8. Assured performance

We can help to deploy, manage and support your wireless infrastructure and ensure that there's no degradation in its performance.

9. Fewer errors

Our solutions slash the errors associated with manual systems: our voice-picking technology can reduce errors by 85%.

10. Standardised inspections

With our versatile Inspections app, your inspectors will all be using the same system for recording the results of their activities.
